

Lowton Church of England High School

4 July 2025

Dear parents and carers,

Summer 2 Week 5 Parent Letter

Lowton
Church of England High School

Sports Day

Our annual Sports Day took place on Monday 30th June in the most glorious sunshine. What a brilliant day it was! Our students competed hard, cheered each other on and celebrated their successes throughout the day and across all of the events. A full report and photo gallery will soon be available on our Facebook page for you to enjoy. Thank you to all of the students for their engagement, positivity and enthusiasm. It was a pleasure to see. Final thanks have to go to all of the staff for their support on the day and especially to Mr

Wilson and Team PE for their outstanding organisation of such a brilliant day.

Summer of Celebration

If you follow us on Facebook, you will have seen many posts sharing and celebrating student success in and around school. Students have been nominated by staff for recognition of their efforts and for how they demonstrate our school values every day. We feel so proud of every young person who has received a nomination. All nominated students are being entered into a prize draw and the winners will be announced on our Recognition and Celebration Day on Wednesday 16th July.

Welcome Evening for parents of new Year 7 students – Monday 7th July

We are looking forward to meeting our new Year 7 students and their parents at their Welcome Meeting on Monday 7th July. The meeting is being held in school and starts at 5.15pm. If you have any questions about the transition to high school, please don't hesitate to contact Mrs Roberts at school or via email on robertsk@lowtonhs.wigan.sch.uk

Summer Support for Families

At the end of this letter is some really valuable information for parents and families offering advice and support for over the summer holidays. We will also make this information available to you on our school Facebook page and on the school website. If you have any questions about this or would like to talk to someone at school about support please contact Mrs Jordan at school.

Thank you

Thank you to everyone who responded to the Parent Survey. Your feedback is really helpful and insightful and helps us to plan for the next phase of our school's development.

Thank you, as always, for your continuing support of our school.

Yours faithfully

Jane Galbraith

Welcome to the final MHST newsletter of the 2024/2025 academic year.

We've had 11 jam-packed issues of advice and support and in this issue we're focusing on what support is available over the summer break.

This summer we're offering more parent workshops than ever! We'll be presenting on the themes of anxiety, low mood, and school transition across 6 Family Hub locations. You can find more information and the link to book tickets on page 2. We would be grateful if you could promote this to parents and carers.

In this issue we will also be offering some tips on how to stay well this summer. It can be easy to fall into bad habits without the routine of school, so we will look at some ways to make self-care a priority.

Over the summer months screen time may dramatically increase for many young people, with social media being their first choice for communicating with their peers. That's why in this issue we have also included some advice on how to keep young people safe online.

On page 6 you will find some useful signposting and information on the exciting launch of new Family Hub locations.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your continued support and engagement throughout the academic year. We look forward to working with you in 2025/2026.

We would love to get your feedback on the newsletter! Please scan the QR code to the right to complete our short survey.

SUMMER'S PARENT WORKSHOPS

1

ANXIETY WORKSHOP

This workshop explores what anxiety is, where it comes from, and how it affects us. We will explore common symptoms of anxiety and consider how our thoughts, feelings, and behaviours are connected. We will then share coping strategies and useful signposting to help parents support young people in managing their worries.

2

LOW MOOD WORKSHOP

This workshop aims to help parents understand the common symptoms of low mood, and the differences between low mood and depression. We will look at the 'vicious cycle of low mood' and consider what keeps low mood going. We will also explore how valued activities can improve mood, and top tips on general wellbeing.

3

TRANSITION WORKSHOP

In this workshop we will explore the common worries associated with school transition and how this can create feelings of anxiety. We will think about how young people and their parents can manage these worries and prepare themselves for change.

SUMMER SELF CARE

SUMMER SELF CARE

As children and young people will be off school for around 6-7 weeks, it's really important that they continue doing the things they would usually do to look after themselves over the summer months.

One in five 8-18 year olds have a probable mental health difficulty and this can be impacted further by a lack of routine. Having some freedom over summer is good but we have to be careful of overdoing it, as this can make returning to school in September feel difficult and tricky.

It's really easy when we have a break in routine to let things slide - this is where self-care comes in. It's about making sure you look after yourselves, starting with the basics.

Sleep:

Age 6-13: recommended 10 hours a night
Age 14-17: recommended 9 hours a night

Therefore, keeping a good sleep routine is important for your overall mood, cognitive functioning and lowering stress and frustration. Try to keep a bedtime routine over summer. This will make going to school in September feel easier.

Diet:

Recommended: 3 meals a day, drinking plenty of water and limiting sugary foods.

During school hours, we are used to having at least dinner at school - it's important to continue having 3 meals a day over summer. It helps to reduce 'hangriness', improve sleep, improve brain function and helps your body to recover from any illness.

Physical Activity:

Recommended: 60 minutes of physical activity a day.

It's really easy to let our physical activity slide over summer; it's too easy to scroll on our phones while lying on the bed or going on the PlayStation/X-Box for hours on end. But you need to get up and move as well! It helps with our overall health and releases happy hormones!

Mindfulness:

Mindfulness is all about living in the present moment - we aren't dwelling on the past or worrying about the future. Mindfulness helps you to feel calmer and less stressed.

Mindfulness exercises are very good when we need some head space, or even when faced with coming back to school in September - try breathing or calming/grounding techniques to help!

KEEPING YOUNG PEOPLE SAFE ONLINE

Talking to young people about online safety is essential, and the key is to keep the conversation open, age-appropriate, and ongoing. Here are some practical tips to guide the discussion:

1. Start Early and Keep It Age-Appropriate

Use simple language for younger children (e.g. "Not everyone online is who they say they are").
For older kids, discuss more complex topics like privacy settings, cyberbullying, and digital footprints.

3. Teach Key Safety Rules

Don't share personal information (full name, address, school, etc.).
Only talk to people they know in real life.
Use strong passwords and keep them private.
Always ask before downloading or clicking on links.

2. Make It a Two-Way Conversation

Ask open-ended questions like: "What do you like to do online?" "Have you ever seen something online that made you uncomfortable?"

Listen without judgement to encourage honesty.

4. Explore Together

Visit websites and apps with them.
Show them how to use privacy settings and report/block features.

5. Talk About Digital Footprints

Explain that what they post online can stay there forever.

Encourage them to think before they post or share.

6. Set Boundaries and Use Tools

Set screen time limits and device-free zones (like during meals or bedtime).

Use parental controls, but explain why they're in place.

7. Reassure and Support

Let them know they can come to you if something online upsets them.

Praise them for making smart choices online.

During the summer, concerns about body image often increase. This can be caused by a number of factors, such as social media portrayals of the so-called 'ideal summer body', advertising about diets and meal plans, and the loss of structure over the school holidays. BEAT offer a wide range of online support groups for those who have or think they have an eating disorder. Click here to find out more.
